Motor Carrier Transportation

Oregon Trusted Carrier Partners

Following is a list of the "best" motor carriers participating in the Oregon Green Light weigh station preclearance program. By equipping trucks with transponders that allow them to bypass weigh stations, and by having an exemplary record of compliance with registration, tax, and safety requirements, these 1,061 carriers received Trusted Carrier license plates. The plate is a visual cue telling enforcement personnel that the carrier should not be subject to random safety inspections, one of several program benefits. How to Qualify.

How to Qualify

Carriers qualify for a Trusted Carrier vanity plate by enrolling in the Green Light Program, equipping their trucks with transponders, and passing a review of their compliance with registration, tax, and safety requirements.

In the review of registration and tax compliance for the past 12 months, Trusted Carriers will be those with no Oregon suspensions or IFTA tax license suspensions. They will not have been the subject of a carrier-related civil enforcement action, will not have more than one late carrier-related tax report, and will not have entered into more than one repayment plan to discharge a liability with the Oregon DOT.

In the review of safety records, Trusted Carriers cannot have an unsatisfactory safety rating and they cannot be a participant in the PRISM safety improvement program. Their driver and vehicle out-of-service percentage must be at or below the national average, and there can be no serious safety violations on record, such as violating an out-of-service order or having a driver found Driving Under the Influence - DUI.

Oregon's Trusted Partners are eligible for more than just a vanity plate. They are not subject to random safety inspection or safety compliance reviews, unless warranted. Also, they qualify for a waiver of surety bond requirements. The program is intended to help the Oregon Department of Transportation direct its motor carrier enforcement efforts to where they're needed. When safety personnel see a Trusted Carrier plate, they'll know to go on to another truck that is more likely to need their attention.

Carriers identified as "Trusted" can lose that special status for reasons such as the discovery of a serious safety violation, the unauthorized use of a transponder or a Trusted Carrier plate, bankruptcy, or failing to meet any of the Green Light Program enrollment criteria.
